Peter F. Drucker Graduate School of Management

Dean Tripodes awarded Paul and Bernice Albrecht Endowed Fellowship for 1999-2000

Fellowship Funds

Students do not apply for specific fellowships, but are considered for awards as part of the awarding of institutional fellowships. The Paul and Bernice Albrecht Endowed Fellowship is an endowed fellowship awarded to an outstanding student in the Peter F. Drucker Graduate School of Management to commemorate the contributions of Paul and Bernice Albrecht. Paul Albrecht was dean of the management school at Claremont Graduate School (now Claremont Graduate University), who was also the intellect that encouraged Peter F. Drucker to leave New York University and join him in Claremont, California.
